OWLS ARE TO HAVE A REAL SANTA CLAUS

The officers and steward of the local Owls lodge were hosts last night at a banquet and social, following the regular meeting. The banquet was prepared under the direction of the steward, W. D. Watson and was voted one of the best that has been given thus far this season.
During the meeting several new members were initiated and plans were discussed for an entertainment to be given at the lodge rooms next Saturday evening. The entertainment will consist of three or four boxing and wrestling exhibitions, several musical numbers and a luncheon and the proceeds will be devoted to the bringing of Christmas cheer to some of the poorer families on the roster of the lodge.
The Christmas committee plans to visit the homes of the needy the night before Christmas in genuine Santa Claus fashion, with well filled baskets on their arms and attired in proper costumes.

OPENING DATE FOR FRENCH PARLIAMENT

Paris, Dec. 12, 12:30 p. m.—President Poincaré presided over a meeting of the French cabinet this morning at the Palace of the Elisees. All the ministers were present, with the exception of the minister of war, Alexandre Millerand, who is at Bordeaux. A decree was signed, setting December 22 as the date of the opening of both houses of parliament. The minister of finance, Alexandre Ribot, explained the bill referring to provisional monthly credits, after which the cabinet decided to request parliament to vote six provisional monthly credits in order to avoid the national defense having to exist from hand to mouth and so that the armed forces may be able to continue the war with necessary energy.

RICH MUSICAL COMEDY AT ORPHEUM TOMORROW

Tomorrow night the Frank Rich Musical Comedy company of 17 people will open at the Orpheum theatre for a three days' engagement with all new scenery, costumes, plays and many new people. Since the company's last appearance here it has been enlarged and improved, and are playing only one show nightly, giving a complete evening's entertainment of over two hours. Their offering here will be the big New York musical comedy success, in two acts and three scenes, "The Rollicking Girl," a show teeming with alert lines and funny situations with which are intermingled seventeen late song hits and clever specialties, making more than double the show of last season. The old favorites have been retained and the show strengthened by the addition of several clever performers of note from the eastern musical comedy field. The present company is pronounced by both press and public the peer of any popular priced musical show ever offered to the public. Seats on sale. They will be here only three nights with a complete change of program each night.—(Advertisement.)

THE PERILS OF PAULINE.
Stanford Marvin, a rich retired manufacturer, has a son, Harry, and also an adopted daughter, Pauline. Harry is in love with Pauline and Pauline likes Harry very much. Old Mr. Marvin, who feels his health failing, asks Pauline to marry Harry at once, so that he may see them happy and see her provided for in case anything should happen to him. Pauline, although admitting that she loves Harry, says that she will not marry him for a year or two at least, until she has satisfied her ambition to become a great writer. She proves that she has some talent by showing Harry and his father a story written by herself, which has appeared in one of the magazines. Mr. Marvin recognizes her talent, and agrees to send her on a year's trip around the world, in order that she may see life and be able to write better. Mr. Marvin has had a hobby for collecting antiques, and among his other treasures is a mummy. Just after his decision to give Pauline her trip, he is sitting in the library when he is attacked by one of his fainting spells. While in a semi-conscious state, the mummy steps down from her case and addresses him. This causes an attack of heart failure, resulting in his death. His will, when read, leaves one-half of his fortune to his son and the other half to his adopted daughter, Pauline, with a provision that in case of her death before she marries Harry her share will go to their secretary, Owen.

Owen is a villain at heart and plots to secure Pauline's fortune for himself. How these plots are laid, how they are carried out, and Harry's share in protecting Pauline, is shown on the screen in the different episodes of the story.

Owen is a very remarkable villain, and leads Pauline into a series of the most thrilling adventures. Harry, as Pauline's self-appointed protector, is kept a very busy man rescuing her from danger.

Will be shown at the Lyceum every week beginning Tuesday and Wednesday, December 15 and 16.—(Advertisement.)

SERMON ON CONDITION OF THE PEOPLE OF BELGIUM

The King of Belgium this fall appointed a special envoy, consisting of the minister of justice and two of the Belgian ministers of state, to acquaint the President of the United States of the real condition in Belgium. The entire document of their evidence was recently printed and sent to members of the International Peace commission. Complete reports of this and later evidence together with the printed document have been received by Rev. J. E. Carver, who is a corresponding member of the commission. Data from this extensive report will be reviewed in the Sunday night sermon in the First Presbyterian church, Sunday night.

Much of the report consists of the sworn evidence of persons who suffered violence and endured plunderers or the sworn testimony of eye-witnesses who beheld the effect of war upon others.

Lyceum Theater

Will show every Tuesday and Wednesday for twenty weeks

Mr. Crane Wilbur as "Harry Marvin," an extremely attractive lover.
Miss Pearl White, the Popular Pathe Leading Lady, plays the part of "Pauline."
Mr. Paul Panzer as "Raymond Owen," a very remarkable villain.

"The Perils of Pauline"

FIRST EPISODE.

Will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday, December 15 and 16.

Full of THRILLS, Adventures, Narrow Escapes, Villainy and Love.

See the first episode and you'll want to see it all. "THE BLAZING SEA," a big 3-reel feature will be shown Sunday and Monday.
